Ag Teacher Turns Apple Grower —Finds Alabama Soil Profitable

Prophesies of starvation accompanied Charles C. Anderson '21 when he and his wife gave up teaching to move to a "worn-out, God-forsaken farm in Blount county" in the Spring of 1930.

Today Mr. Anderson said, "We have learned by experience that Northeast Alabama will not only produce good peaches and plums, but also apples of particularly fine quality and flavor." This branch of agriculture, he said, is sadly neglected.

Future in Apples

"We feel that apples have a much more promising future than other fruits," he continued. "We really think this should be a great life and we would be glad to have other Auburn men in work of this kind. We shall be glad to have visitors at any time."

When he left Auburn with a B. S. in agriculture in 1921, Mr. Anderson went to Curry Consolidated School in Walker county where he was principal and teacher of agriculture. Two years later he began teaching agriculture at Blountsville. He was principal of the Red Bay High School for two years. From there he went to Meek Agricultural High School and was principal until the end of the term of '29 and '30.

"In the last few years of this time I was dreaming of having an orchard," Mr. Anderson related, "and in the Fall of '29 I found a worn-out, God-forsaken farm in Blount county about 18 miles southwest of Oneonta, which I thought would be good fruit land if I could get it built up. So in the Spring of '30 we left school work and moved to this farm, with the usual dire prophecies of starvation, by our well-wishers."

Fire Destroys Home

"During the first summer we had a fire which destroyed our home and practically all our household goods as well as some other things and when we got a house built back and half-way furnished we were absolutely broke—with a worn-out farm on our hands."

"We began setting out peach, apple, and plum trees and worrying bankers at a time when they all suggested we might make

LEE ALUMNI GIVING 'A' DAY BARBECUE

The Auburn Club of Lee County, an affiliated group of the Auburn Alumni Association, has announced a special barbecue for "A" day April 12. This part is an added feature to go along with the other big events already planned for the day.

All Alumni members of the "A" Club are being notified of the special events for the day and are being called into a special reunion session exclusively for all wearers of the monogram. They will also be present for the barbecue.

Tickets for the barbecue are $1.50 and can be purchased through the President of the Auburn Club, Cliff Wear '33, telephone Opelika 132, or through the Alumni office, Auburn 960, extension 206.

Jim Tom Hamilton '33, who has been active in making the necessary arrangements advises that plans call for the barbecue to start at 5:00 p. m. April 12 at Chewacla Park. Reservations should be made early. Faculty members and friends of Auburn are invited to participate.

out on less than we felt we had to have. We tried to run on the principle of faith and works."

Mr. Anderson added, "We had also heard the saying that the Lord takes care of fools."

"It is unnecessary to remind anyone of conditions in the decade of '30 to '40. I do not know how we survived it all but we really got great thrills out of the work even if the 'bad wolf' did howl most of the time."

High Quality Fruit

The Andersons now have 1500 peach trees, 600 or 700 apple trees, about 100 plum trees and have good equipment. Their orchard is small, but they go in for high quality fruit.

AUBURN GRAD IS MADE PROFESSOR AT HARVARD

Alumnus of the Month for March is Curry Street '27 who was recently made a full professor at Harvard. He is the brother of Mrs. W. E. Mason of Auburn.

Dr. Street began his teaching career at the University of Virginia in 1928 as a fellow. This appointment was received because of the recommendations and support of Dr. Fred Allison, head of the physics department at A. P. I.

Dr. Street's father was graduated from A. P. I. and his mother attended Wellesley. A member of Phi Kappa Phi, Tau Beta Pi, Eta Kappa Nu, Scabbard and Blade, honorary organizations and Lambda Chi Alpha social fraternity, Mr. Street received his B. S. in electrical engineering. He did graduate research at the University of Virginia under Professor J. W. Beams in the field of electrical discharges in gases. He received his Ph.D. in physics from Virginia in 1931.

Appointed Bartol Research Fellow (Bartol Foundation of the Franklin Institute) in 1931, Dr. Street worked under the direction of Dr. W. F. G. Swann for one year. He began research in the field of cosmic radiation.

Dr. Street developed, with Dr. T. H. Johnson, new techniques for observation of the East West asymmetry of the radiation pointing to the positive predominance in primary radiation. He was appointed instructor at Harvard in 1934.

He made observations which led to the identification of the meson a new fundamental particle in 1936 with E. C. Stevenson. Similar observations were made independently by Neddermeyer and Anderson at California Institute of Technology at about the same time.

In 1939 Dr. Street married Leila Fripp Tison, Grahamville, S. C. and in the same year was appointed associate professor at Harvard. Taking a leave of absence in 1940, he joined the Massachusetts Institute of Technology Radiation Laboratory (the development laboratory for radar). He invented the line modulator in 1940-41. From 1942-44 he was in charge of the development of the Loran Navigation System. For a time in 1944 he was associate director and later director of the British Branch of the Radiation Laboratory in Malvern, England. The following year he was in charge of the division for ground and ship radar at the Radiation Laboratory.

Dr. Street returned to Harvard in 1946 and was appointed professor of physics early this year.

Dr. and Mrs. Street have two children, Caroline Dunklin Street, age six, and Curry Tyson Street, age three. Their address is 38 Orchard Street, Belmont, Mass.

Gov. James E. Folsom and Dr. L. N. Duncan, Auburn president, are discussing a report during a recent visit of the governor to the campus.

AUBURN ALUMNI CHAPTER FORMS AT WEST POINT

Eighty-seven graduates and former students of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute met Friday night, January 31 at the General Tyler Hotel and organized the Valley Chapter of the Auburn Alumni Association.

C. L. Adams, West Point, named temporary chairman, appointed as a committee on constitution and by-laws, Fob James, Lanett; Bob Harding, Shawmut; Lee Johnson, Langdale; A. T. Hanson, Fairfax; Jim Frank Clark, River View; Mrs. Cliff Glover, West Point, and Frank McQueen, Lafayette (Ala.).

It is estimated that there are 250 Auburn men and women in Chambers County, Ala., and West Point, Ga., approximately 150 of these living in the six valley towns.

Talks were made at the meeting by Frank Boyd '14, President, and Harry M. (Happy) Davis '32, Executive Secretary of the Auburn Alumni Association; Emil F. Wright '24, Auburn, member of the Executive Committee; James Naftel '26, Auburn; Mary George Lamar, '33, Auburn, and John Lewis Whatley, Opelika, all Vice Presidents of the Association.

Other guests included the members of the Lee County, Ala., chapter of the association: Cliff Wear, Opelika, president; and Jim Tom Hamilton, Opelika, Secretary.

The local chapter plans to cooperate with the recently organized Chattahoochee Valley Students Association, which has been recognized officially as a campus organization. Approximately 150 Valley students commute daily.

Next April the Valley Chapter plans a baseball game between the Auburn Tigers and one of their college opponents at Jennings Field, Lanett. During the Summer the chapter plans to hold Auburn Day.

Is Everybody Happy?

By Harry M. (Happy) Davis

Executive Secretary
Auburn Alumni Association

Hello everybody. I think it's kind of nice that we can talk about a few pleasant things. After all, there is a pleasant side of life even though sometimes it's rather hard to find. How about Homecoming? It's closer than you think and it might be a good idea to start making plans. Here in Auburn several of us got together the other night to see what we could do about making this a big occasion. Fob James '29 was here from the Valley Club. Fob will ask the General Tyler Hotel to reserve a number of rooms for us on the big day. It's only a twenty-five minute drive to West Point. Cliff Wear '33 and Jim Tom Hamilton '33 from Opelika were present and are to make arrangements in Opelika at the Clement Hotel. Arrangements will be made at the Pitts Hotel for all officers who can be present.

Vice-President Jimmie Naftel '26 suggested a convention lapel identification button for everybody and we are now trying to locate these buttons. Others present who made several suggestions were Miss Mary George Lamar '35, Hugh Rodgers '37 and Ripper Williams '34. Tours of the Campus will be arranged and guides will be furnished. Guy Spearman '14 has already agreed to feed the gang Friday night. Those of you who missed the "gathering" last time on the night before have heard plenty about it and will want to be present this time. We are planning on making Homecoming a big day. With the plans for a stadium increasing daily we can really have a big day. If you plan to be here all reservations are being made through the Alumni Secretary. Please notify this office as soon as you can. The Date October 11, 1947. Auburn VS Florida.

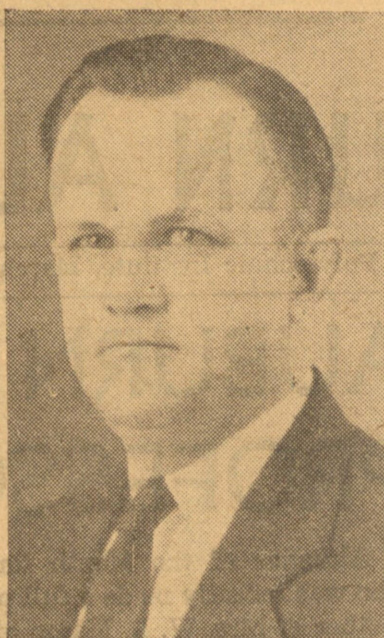

Now for another big day—"A" Day this time is all set for April 12. Activities start at 10:00 AM with a base ball game. The track team will give an exhibition at 1:30 PM. The Orange VS Blue football game starts at 3:00 PM. Captains for the two teams are not yet chosen but the rivalry between the two teams is increasing daily. Proceeds from all activities go to the "A" Club. These boys have established a trust fund and are required by their Constitution to deposit the proceeds of "A" Day to the fund. Expenditures can be made only on the written authority of the Board of Trustees who are the President of the "A" Club, Business Manager of Athletics, and the Alumni Secretary. The money is to be used for a bigger and better "A" Day.

These "A" Club boys work awfully hard on "A" Day and it costs some money. Alumni will be given the privilege of helping make this a big day by the purchase of a ticket for $1.00 to all events. That's something which I hope all of you will do. Your attitude toward these boys will certainly go a long way toward building their morale.

We were happy to hear of the recognition recently paid to our good friend and Auburn's good friend, Doc Penton '09 of Montgomery (and Auburn). Doc recently completed over 25 years serve with The Upjohn Company and was feted with a banquet and given a handsome watch in recognition of his 25 years faithful, loyal service. Doc's boss in presenting Doc stated that he attended a certain University and that he was not sorry that he did but he did not attend Auburn and he was sorry that he didn't. He further stated that if Doc never did another thing in the way of work, just keep picking the same type Auburn boys he had in the past.

I think it's about time we recognized the efforts of Swede Umbach and his successful wrestling season. Swede and his boys I think can lay undisputed claim to the SEC championship. The wrestling team has a very interesting exhibition which they put on before alumni groups and high school audiences. If interested let us know. Congratulations Swede and Company and best wishes for your continued success.

Victor W. Lewis of Savannah, Ga., as General Livestock Agent for Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, promotes the livestock industry in all its phases with respect to production, marketing, and in locating industries having to do with livestock and livestock products. He received his B. S. agriculture from Auburn in 1913.

Victor Lewis '13 Helps Livestock Development

Since leaving Auburn with a B. S. in agriculture in 1913, Victor W. Lewis, now of Savannah, Ga., has devoted his efforts to livestock development.

He spent three years with the Bureau of Animal Industry, with headquarters at Clemson (S. C.) Agricultural College. For seven years he was engaged in livestock marketing with North Carolina Division of Markets, Department of Agriculture, headquarters in Raleigh, N. C.

While working in North Carolina, Mr. Lewis wrote the constitution and by-laws and assisted in organizing the Farmers Mutual Exchanges of that state, which later resulted in organizing of FCX in North Carolina, the principal farmers' marketing organization of that state.

For the last twenty years Mr. Lewis has been General Livestock Agent with the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad with headquarters at Savannah, Ga. His territory includes parts of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, and Alabama.

As General Live Stock Agent for Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, his attention has been directed toward promoting the live stock industry in all its phases with respect to production, marketing and in locating industries having to do with live stock and live stock products. In this capacity, alone with former activities, Mr. Lewis was identified with the establishment and growth of co-operative activities in the marketing of live stock and live stock products, in organizing the various fat cattle shows, live stock markets, and in bringing into the deep south all the larger meat packers.

Mr. Lewis has served as Secretary, Vice-President and President of the Railway Development Association of the Southeast (an organization including representatives and supervisory officers of the development services of all railroads in the southeast), and is now Secretary of the Southeastern Live Stock Loss Prevention Board, having as its purpose the reduction of live stock losses from farm to market.

'What Is Glorious Death?' Asks Mother of API Student Who Went Down

By "Happy" Davis

We write this story coming to us from the Mother of another good Auburn man who paid the supreme sacrifice—who served his country—who gave his life that we might live in liberty. For obvious reasons we will not use real names.

"What is a Glorious Death?" asks his Mother. "I don't see any glory in it. I have always had a horror of war and this nation has taken its share of my people in every war. It has been involved until I am sick, tired and disgusted. Sometimes for fleeting moments I think, well, it's going to be all right with me and my God, but it's only moments. To me there is no glory in war, to me it's a shame and disgrace to a civilized world. War is nothing but Death, Destruction, Suffering, Grief and Sorrow and Hate and Hell fire.

There must be some other way. War has never brought peace and never will. It only makes the next war more horrible and will continue on that way until the earth and the inhabitants of it go the way it is written it will go, up in fire and brimstone and there is nothing I can say or do about it. But the disappointment, the grief, and sorrow of it, I cannot overcome as is written, Rachel grieving for her children and refusing to be comforted. I am not refusing to be comforted but I haven't been able yet to find any comfort. My Baby, to me, had as much to live on this earth as anyone. You may think it very selfish of me and maybe it is."

Then the mother copied a letter she had received from one of "Ham's" buddies overseas. It went like this:

"I find that this is a very difficult letter to write. Your son, 'Ham' as he was affectionately nicknamed by the gang, was not only a member of my squadron but also one of the finest and closest friends I knew overseas. We joined the squadron and flew operationally for the first time together.

"A great many of my memories of squadron life—eating, sleeping, drinking, laughing with the gang, the deep comradeship that I can't express on paper that all our people knew and thanked God for—all these and many more are deeply entwined with my thoughts of 'Ham'.

"I can still hear him leading the gang singing 'Glory to Ole Auburn' and remember what delight he got from making and eating 'Yankee Snow Ice Cream'. 'I was on the mission 'Ham' went down on. I don't remember the exact location but it was over German Territory. My flight was hitting a train with fire bombs when 'Ham' spotted a camouflaged train parked on a spur to the west of where we were.

"My flight finished our train off and hurried over to cover 'Ham's' flight. The train consisted of about five cars with tanks and armored vehicles, eight freight cars with supplies and ammunition, two troop cars with troops in them covered with trees. As we circled above them I saw 'Ham' make a striding pass and burst into flame about 100 feet above the ground. He went in right next to the train with a large explosion.

"The train was defended by several machine guns comparable to our 50 caliber, all of which we silenced before we left. We also destroyed most of the flat cars and tanks. After the ground forces took the territory we sent members of the group to investigate. They identified the remains of the plane by the serial numbers on the guns.

"In closing let me say that your son was an excellent pilot, and a conscientious, upstanding man to the very end.

"There's small comfort in knowing that 'Ham' died doing what he loved best in the cause in which he had undying faith.

"My memories of 'Ham' will always be a constant inspiration to me."

A footnote was added: "Another Buddy wrote that when he saw 'Ham's' plane after the crash and explosion he flew down directly over him, saluted him and dipped his wings in a farewell to a brave pilot and a true friend and said a prayer for him there."

Well, Mother, I guess it's needless to say that we have had to write this little article in spells. There's a lump in our throat and—well it just kind of leaves us with so much to think about, so many things undone, so much we want to say and can't.

You see, we have heard from other mothers. They know about their son's love for Auburn. A mother just the other day signed her letter with a "Bless dear ole Auburn", and so we answered by saying, "And bless you to my dear lady from all of us".

Those of us who went to Auburn can sympathize with you. You have lost one who was close to you and have lost one who was close to us. Auburn is that way you know. We are all blessed with that certain something that comes only to Auburn men and women.

I guess, for the time being, we'll just have to nudge up a little closer and try to fill the gap. That we must carry on stands uppermost in our minds. It sounds a lot easier than it really is because we miss "Ham" too. We always will.

John Payne '26 Is Sales Manager for Large Co.

John Payne '26 has been appointed Industrial Sales Manager of the Westinghouse Electric Corporation and is located at the company's East Pittsburgh works. He is originally from Phenix City, Ala.

Upon graduation from Auburn, he took the Westinghouse Graduate Student Course and spent a year in the General Engineering Department at East Pittsburgh. In June 1927, he was transferred to the Industrial Sales Department, handling steel mill industries and machinery builders with allied industries for the company in that area.

Later he was appointed manager of the resale section and in 1934 was made central district industrial manager. He received his latest appointment in February, 1947.

Mr. Payne's brother, R. W. (Dick) Payne.

This newspaper is not supposed to be representative of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute although it was made possible by the cooperation of the College. It is edited by the Auburn Alumni Association for the purpose of furnishing the news of Auburn to the Alumni of the Institute in such a form as to be interesting to them. Our interest is AUBURN, the Institution, and anything that concerns the welfare of that Institution.

Alumnalities

1891 C. L. Hare, Dean of the School of Chemistry here at Auburn, can now boast of an enrollment of 292 in his department, which ranks sixth among all the departments of the school. When we want a job done well, we just get an Auburn man to do it!

1892 We were sorry indeed to hear of the death last month of George S. Clark, who had been a civil engineer with the State Highway Department. Previous to that, he was a professor at the University of the South at Sewanee and principal of several county high schools in Alabama.

1896 We also extend sympathy to Mrs. Josiah Thomas Mangum on the loss of her distinguished husband last month. During his full and satisfying life, Dr. Mangum helped to found a Methodist mission in the Belgian Congo, and was a trustee of Montevallo and the University of North Carolina and vice president of the North Carolina Children's Home and served on various other educational boards. He was active in the ministry until 10 years ago, when ill health necessitated his retirement.

1901 We hear from James B. Mitchell that he is county agent in Huntsville, and doing a little farming on the side. He is also an enthusiastic worker for the Methodist Church and active in various civic organizations.

1903 Charles B. Goldthwaite writes from Troy that he is a druggist and registered pharmacist there. From 1930 until 1946, he served as Alabama State Drug Inspector.

1905 We were interested recently in reading in the Opelika Daily News about the Career of John H. Paterson, who began his second four-year term as commissioner of agriculture last month. He acquired most of his agricultural knowledge as a successful horticulturist, and is a member of a well known family-operated floral concern in Montgomery, Rosemont Gardens. John has spent the interim between terms as agriculture commissioner directing state war emergency organizations. It must have been those three years on the Auburn football squad that gave John enough fortitude to take on a government job!

1906 C.A.M. Weber has been doing some detective work for us up in Boston, in our effort to discover "lost" alumni. He reports that he'd planned to attend homecoming last year, but at the last minute decided to stay at home and help welcome his second grandson into the world.

Adolph Weil is a partner in the highly successful firm of cotton merchants, Weil Brothers, which has membership in the New York, New Orleans, and Liverpool Cotton Exchanges.

1907 C. W. "Bill" Streit is trying to make us jealous with picture postcards from Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., where he spent the month of January. But we still haven't any proof of how big those fish were, Bill.

1909 J. Marshall "Mystic" Mayes is now Deputy Chief of the Construction Division of the U. S. Dept. of Commerce in Washington, and living in Rockville, Md., with his wife and young son and daughter.

Rufus "Si" Peerson is a practicing pharmacist in Decatur—and manages to find time for a good bit of hunting, fishing, and football games. Daughter Constance is a graduate of Montevallo.

1912 Olean A. "Scout" Miller is a foreman in the chemical laboratories of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Co. in Ensley, Alabama. Son Albert was Auburn '45, and son Ralph is now attending his father's old Alma Mater in the class of '47.

Leonidas Poyntz "Lonnie" Munger is vice president of the Munger Realty Co. in Birmingham. He has been a trustee of Birmingham Southern since 1924 and a trustee and member of the Board of Directors of the Birmingham Y. M. C. A. since 1924. Sons Jack and Leonidas Jr., have both attended Auburn.

1913 Victor W. Lewis of Savannah, Ga., has completed a year as President of the Railway Development Association of the Southeast, and is general livestock agent for the Atlantic Coast Lines Railway.

1914 Jephtha S. Branyon, who attended summer school here in 1914, received his B.S. and M.A. at the University of Alabama, and has been principal of the Uniontown High School for 21 years. He has held places of honor in many civic clubs and in church and community work.

We've heard indirectly that Thomas G. Hearn is now a Major General, U. S. A., Retired, and living in Monterey County, California. He is enjoying a much needed rest after his duties as Chief of Staff to General Stillwell during General Stillwell's activities in China and Burma.

1915 Ransom Davis Spann, design engineer, inventor and industrial executive, has recently been appointed Professor of Electrical Engineering here at Auburn. He comes directly from R.C.A. in Camden, N. J., where for the past 11 years he has been Executive Engineer and Director of the Quality Control Department. Previous to that position, he was assistant Chief Engineer in charge of development and research in the Paris Laboratories of the International Telephone and Telegraph Company. We are indeed fortunate to welcome such a distinguished alumnus "back home."

1916 P. O. Davis, extension director at A.P.I., has been appointed a member of the committee on rural medical services of the American Medical Association. He attended a meeting at the Palmer House in Chicago on February 7 to make plans for promoting better rural health in the nation.

General Wilton B. Persons is now Chief of the Legislative and Liaison Division of the U. S. Army in Washington. He finds himself responsible for all War Department matters relating to Congress, and reports that due to the tremendous pressures of demobilization and occupation, it has turned out to be a 12 to 14 hour a day job. We can well believe it!

Lamar Howe, well-known Montgomery pharmacist, has recently added more antique collections to his "Ye Ole Apothecary Shoppe" in the Montgomery Museum of Fine Arts. Eight years ago, Lamar began his unique hobby of collecting pharmaceutical supplies used by druggists in the olden days. Among his relics are two 75 year old prescription books, a large collection of oddly shaped perfume and medicine bottles, and old wooden mortars and pestles. His collection is located in the China and Glass Room of the Montgomery Museum, and Lamar reports that it is still far from complete.

1917 Edgar W. Branyon has been County Superintendent of Education in Marion County for five years. He received his B.S. and M.A. at Peabody College, did graduate work at Cornell, and taught in Jasper, Albertville, Jackson, Miss. and Memphis, Tenn., before he assumed the post of Principal of Hamilton High School, which he has held for 14 years. We'll say that Edgar has done his bit for education!

1918 Karl J. Lazenby is a Ford dealer in Monroeville. Glad to hear it, Karl! We'll send all Auburnites who want a new Ford right to you. We're sure you'll be able to fix them up.

General Frank Hart and his wife were recently honored at an open house in the Episcopal rectory during a weekend visit in his home town of Eufaula. General Hart is in command of the Marine Forces at Parris Island, S. C., and this is his first visit home in many years. He served in both the Pacific and European areas during the last war, and particularly distinguished himself in the Dieppe raid and the Battle of Saipan.

1919 Kline McCageor "Chubby" Bentley has been Secretary-Treasurer of the Southern Benefit Life Insurance Company in Elba since 1940.

Joe Nadler writes that he is now with Binswanger & Co., manufacturers and distributors of glass, in Richmond, Va. In 1934, Joe went to Istanbul, Turkey as Professor of Engineering at the American University, known as Robert College. In 1938, he joined his present company as manager of Florida operations. He has been with them ever since, except for the war years, when he was first in the Navy and then Assistant to the Chief Engineer of the U. S. Transportation Corps in Cincinnati, Ohio, where they had charge of all of the engineering design work pertaining to all Marine and Rail equipment such as Army freighters, tankers, barges, etc.

1920 Marion D. "Buck" Taylor is living in Andalusia where he is engaged in the wholesale business in automobile parts. In the past few years he has held such positions in the community as Chairman of the Board of Aldermen, President of the Country Club, Post Commander of the American Legion and Chairman of the O.P.A. Board. Son Wendell is now a Junior at Auburn and son James has just begun his Freshman year.

1921 We're sorry to hear that Sam D. Holt is a patient in the Veterans Hospital in Oteen, N. C. Here's to a speedy recovery, Sam.

Edward A. Terry served as a Lt. Col. in the Field Artillery in the E.T.O. and is now a training officer for the Veterans Administration in Mobile. He's living in Spring Hill with his wife, daughter Anne and son Edward, Jr.

1922 F. A. Reagan last month assumed his duties as probate judge of Edward County. He received his B. S. in both veterinary medicine and agricultural education at Auburn as well as his M.A. Among his varied activities have been coaching high school football, serving as high school principal, as county superintendent of education, and as a replacement officer for 22 months in the Italian Campaign.

William Owen "Bill" Baldwin writes from Syracuse, N. Y. that he is regional manager of the Royal Insurance Company, Ltd., there. Been cold enough for you up there, Bill?

Sam Borders has strayed way out to California. He is associated with the General Motors Corp. and living in South Gate.

1923 Last month Major Robert B. Mardre was assigned to the Information and Education Section, Korea Base Command, as Information and Education Officer. Prior to his entry in the Army, Bob was superintendent of schools in Opelika. He was director of civilian and military training at the Utah General Depot for 3½ years, and also assisted the Office of the Quartermaster General in some of the training institutes in Kansas City, Mo.; Ogden, Utah and Oakland, Calif. Good luck, Bob!

We've heard indirectly that Joe T. Pilcher is a prosperous business man in Selma, a member of the firm of Pilcher-McBryde Drug Co., a Rexall store.

Glenn McNail owns and operates a custom tailoring establishment in the Grant Bldg. in Atlanta. He has recently returned from the Custom Tailors and Designers Association Convention in Chicago. Anyone need new clothes? Glenn ought to know the latest on such matters.

"Barney B." Brown is now Chief Engineer for K. W. Lefever, civil consulting engineers. As Barney says, he really has seen "much country" since leaving Auburn. He's held various engineering positions in Arkansas, Louisiana, Alabama, and New Mexico, and taken a few side jaunts to Missouri, Texas, and Mexico. And he reports running into Auburn men wherever he goes.

1924 Hugh D. Perry is in Newnan, Georgia — and is manager of his own Outdoor Advertising firm. His spare time has been occupied with membership in the City Council, the Rotary Club, the Southern Football Officials Assn., and others.

We hear from Oakdale, La., that Lafton F. Gray is owner and surges of the Oakdale Infirmary there. He has also been active in county affairs, holding at various times the positions of Sheriff, Coroner, President of the Rotary Club and Medical Chief of the Draft Board.

1925 Gordon Persons is with the Alabama Public Service Commission in Montgomery.

1926 Earl Cason writes from Harlingen, Texas where he is Plant Quarantine Inspector, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Entomology & Plant Quarantine, Div. of Pink Bollworm Control. That sounds like quite an order, Earl!

1927 Pat Moulton, public relations department, Waterman Steamship Corporation, Mobile, and widely known in Southern sports circles, addressed the Birmingham Aero Club last month at the Tutwiler Hotel.

Jabez C. Street was recently promoted to full professorship at Harvard University, the highest academic rank at the university. He was among 23 members of Harvard's faculty of Arts and Science to receive the promotion. He is noted for his studies of cosmic ray phenomena.

HONORED

Dr. W. E. Cotton, A.P.I. professor of veterinary medicine received the 1946 Borden award for veterinary research.

1928 We hear from Bernard A. "Babe" Reynolds that he is a partner in a dry cleaning firm in Selma, and has held such positions as County Coroner, Chairman of local Rationing Board and President of Exchange Club.

James A. Wilson is at present a conservationist with the U.S.-D.A. in Wetumpka. Jim served for 4 years in the Italian Campaign as a Captain in the Signal Corps.

Gedds Self is principal of the Parrish High School in Selma and is indirectly reported to be a "Red hot" Auburn man, very interested in organizing a Selma Alumni Club.

1929 Hannibal McNeill "Hoot" Gipson has served 17 years as an engineer with the Alabama State Highway Department and is now owner of an auto service company in Prattville. "Hoot" is active in the Lions Club, Masons, and church work, and is the proud father of three boys.

Edwin R. "Pup" Jones is a pilot and captain for United Air Lines, flying out of Seattle. We've heard, and observed, the life of an air lines pilot is never a dull one. How about it, "Pup?"

William B. Bennett writes that he is the owner and operator of a surveying business in Bessemer and the busy father of Tommy, Jane, and Sile.

1930 Robert H. Brown was appointed Lee County solicitor last month. He is a veteran of World War II, has practiced law in both Auburn and Opelika, and is at present serving his third term as Lee County representative in the Alabama Legislature.

We regret to hear of the death of John Cripps Wickliffe Stewart last month, in an automobile accident near Pittsburgh. He was a veteran of World War II and a sales engineer for the Carborundum Co. of Niagara Falls.

1931 John G. Goodman spent three years as a Captain in the Army and is now Associate Professor of Poultry Husbandry here at Auburn.

A letter from Major Gerald D. Waits has arrived from Totsuka, Japan, where he is associated with the Army Exchange Service, helping to distribute merchandise to PX's throughout

BIRMINGHAM T. C. I. PLANTS EMPLOY MANY AUBURN GRADUATES

If you'd like to hear some very fascinating stories, just get C. M. "Poppa" Bloomfield, who came to this country from Russia in 1911, to tell you some of his experiences.

He can tell you of how he was shanghaied in Russia as a youth, was smuggled aboard a ship bound for the U.S.A., found himself in Mobile, and decided to make Alabama his home. He then enrolled in Alabama Polytechnic Institute where he learned English and graduated as a chemical engineer in the class of 1915. Mr. Bloomfield has been with the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company 31 years and is now the foreman of the Chemical Laboratory at the Fairfield Steel Works. His nickname, "Poppa", is aptly chosen by his co-workers who find that their work is easier to turn out because of his friendly and co-operative attitude. And there's plenty of work to be done, according to "Poppa".

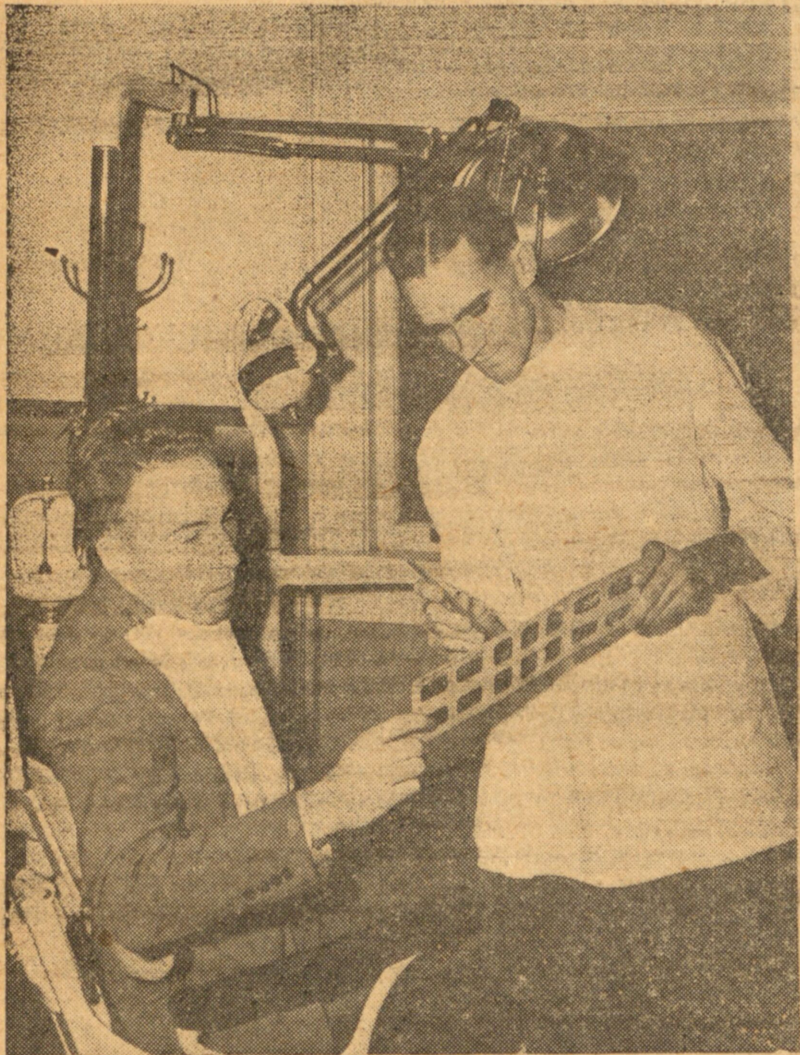

Mr. Bloomfield is but one of several score of Auburn alumni working for the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company in Birmingham, Alabama. The diversification of training received at Auburn is shown by the variety of jobs held by Auburn graduates at TCI. These API employees represent 37 different departments scattered throughout 11 of the operations of this large industrial company. The class years range from 1906 to 1946.

One of the many inspiring success stories is that of J. M. Spearman '10, electrical engineer. In 1912 Mr. Spearman joined TCI as a draftsman. After two absences during which he worked with other companies, Mr. Spearman returned to the Tennessee Company in 1916 as a steam engineer. For the next 30 years promotion followed promotion until he attained his present position as manager of manufacturing operations. Football, Mr. Spearman's favorite sport, filled all of his spare time at Auburn. He was "in the battle," as he puts it, for three college years, and still follows all of the games very closely. As for academics, he remembers particularly two favorite professors, Dr. Petrie, History, and Prof. Fullen, Mechanical Engineering, who were loved by all of the boys. He likes to return to Auburn and stop by for a visit with these two old-timers who have retired but still reside there. And these return visits have been pretty regular for Mr. Spearman since his two sons received their degrees from Auburn in 1935 and 1943.

Dr. Doyce C. Brisco, who had his pre-dentistry training at Auburn, points out where the trouble is to John D. Brooks '39, estimator, Ensley Works.

Earliest and latest Auburn classes represented at TCI are Sam B. Fort, Sr., '06, mill supervisor of the Fairfield Sheet Mill, pointing out the galvanized products on the cooling reels to Mary Elizabeth Sahn '46, stenographer.

Auburn, with its well-known agricultural school, has reason to be proud of its representatives in the Farm Products Division of the Tennessee Company. Luther Fuller '11, who was 1910 editor-in-chief of the ORANGE & BLUE, is general farm products agent. He is ably assisted by O. H. Gowden '40, farm products agent of Alabama. Harry W. Dearing, Jr. '32 head of the agricultural engineering division works very closely with them. And Bill Pearsons '36, is office manager of the Sales Promotion Department.

A sample of the success of Auburn alumni is indicated by the records of the following men: Reynolds F. Birchfield '18, who began working with the Tennessee Company in 1923 as a transitman, is now the chief mine inspector of the Ore Mines Department. H. A. Caldwell '20, came to TCI in 1922 as a chemist and is presently chief metallurgist at Ensley Works. Ben Curtis '27, an inspector in the Fairfield Sheet Mill in 1927, has worked up to the position of manager of sales in the Basic Slag Department. Mr. Curtis is assisted in this work by M. L. Batson, salesman, enrolled in Auburn in 1917. Cosette Harrison, chief electrical engineer, entered the employ of TCI in 1917 as an electrical engineer after having graduated in the class of 1916. Levie H. Shelley, class '24, a sales engineer when he joined the Tennessee Company in 1936, is manager of the sales in the Culvert Division. Marion G. Crosthwait, student at Auburn in 1917, began work for TCI in 1933 as head draftsman at Fairfield Wire Works and is now superintendent of the works.

The following seven Auburn men, totaling 196 years service with the Tennessee Company, have advanced to the position of superintendent: John M. Davis '14, superintendent, Merchant & Cotton Tie Mills, Fairfield Steel Works; Edward DeShazo, '08, superintendent, Timber Treating Department, Bessemer Rolling Mill; Festus U. Harris '15, superintendent, Plate Mill, Fairfield Steel Works; Walter R. Kirkwood '29, superintendent, Mining Department, Wylam Division; Thomas F. Parker '08, superintendent, Dolonah Quarry; Robert Rutledge '21, superintendent, Open Hearth Department, Fairfield Steel Works; and Henry T. White, '07, superintendent, Maintenance Department, Fairfield Japan. His wife joined him last November, and he is enthusiastic about his lovely home with wonderful view of Mount Fuji, plenty of "Stateside" food, and plenty of servants to cook it and do all the other chores. He expects to be in Japan until next November.

Joseph D. Hughes is associated with T. Mellon and Sons in Pittsburgh, the Smokey City.

Lindley Hatfield, who is with W. A. May & Green, Athletic Supplies, in Montgomery, is another Auburn rooster. "Nothing like having a 2 or 3 man Auburn get-together," he says.

1932 Clifton Kirkpatrick writes that he is now connected with the National Cotton Council of America as Director of Research for the Production and Marketing Division, with headquarters in Memphis.

George N. Anderson served in World War II in Africa, Italy, France, the Philippine Islands and China as a Lt. Col. He is now General Counsel, Foreign Liquidation Commission for China.

Major Otis S. Moreman, Jr. is headed for Yokohama. He reports that his family will return to Auburn until he gets back or until he can obtain passage for them to Yokohama.

1933 William F. Thompson has been discharged from the Army and, with his wife and year-old William F., Jr., is living in Tuskegee, where he is an agent for Liberty National Life Insurance Company.

We've been reading in the papers that Jimmy Hitchcock, former all-American half-back and professional baseball player, took office on January 20 as a new associate member of the Alabama public service commission.

Otto Morningstar, who was a Captain in the Chemical Warfare Service, is now President of the Morningstar Corp., in Cambridge, Mass. He received his Ph.D. from M.I.T., where he was also a staff member.

Auburn has suffered a great loss in the resignation of Porter Grant, assistant to the athletic director here. Porter's duties have included scouting football games and contacting prospective Auburn athletes. He has resigned to enter private business.

Karl S. Hall is now Director of Supply at the Army War College in Washington, D. C. He is a Major in the Quartermaster Corps.

1934 Leighton Curtis Hester is now farming in Cherokee after various positions with the F.S.A.

1935 Herbert McLeod, Jr., for the past six years has been a U. S. Food & Drug Inspector with headquarters in Atlanta.

Neil O. Davis, editor of the Lee County Bulletin, was elected president of the Alabama Press Association for 1947, during the last Press Convention at Montgomery.

Leslie "Woodie" Woodall, has been with the Southern Railway Co. ever since his graduation from Auburn, and is now Trainmaster in Oakdale, Tenn.

Howard J. "Dizz" Morris spent "five years and five days" in the Army, from which he was separated as a Lt. Col. He is now an Assistant Cashier of the First National Bank in Montgomery.

Asa G. Hartley writes from Atlanta that he is now a Test Engineer for the Georgia Power Company.

Robert Lee Griffin is County Agricultural Agent in Marion County.

1936 Floyd G. Hutto reports from Montgomery that he is a salesman. Traveling, Floyd?

Ralph W. Steele is now living Sales Engineer for the John H. in New Orleans where he is a Carter Co. He spent 3½ years in the Corps of Engineers, rising to the rank of Major.

Hugh P. Carter has resumed his work as a patent attorney after 4½ years of active duty as a Lt. Col. in the Army and 26 months overseas in the Southwest Pacific area and Okinawa.

L. G. Walker is doing a fine job in the field of education. He is now Superintendent of Perry County Schools after having been Principle of both the Coosa County and Perry County high schools.

1937 Sidney Scarborough former Auburn athlete who coached an undefeated 1946 football team at Atlanta's Tech High, has been named "director of physical education, athletic and military" of Atlanta City schools.

Major Elmer A. Jones is now at the Army Medical School, Army Medical Center, Washington, D. C.

In Wyandotte, Michigan, Edward D. "Doug" Walters is now owner of a small animal hospital.

Thelma Sheppard of Tuskegee is the new assistant home demonstration agent for Baldwin County. She has previously been employed with the F.S.A. in Escambia, Geneva, and Russell Counties.

We've received a note from Martin Mardirosian, during his recent trip to Washington. Martin was anxious to get in touch with two of his old classmates, Earl Butler and Edward Briggs.

We also have a letter from Edward Briggs, asking for Marty Mardirosian's address. The Alumni Office seems to be turning into a Bureau of Missing Persons—and we're always glad to be of help. Ed is at present with the Naval Air Missile Test Center at Point Mugu, Calif.

Elliott Kaplus, who is in charge of the Clifton Dog and Cat Hospital in Clifton, N. J., would like to get an Alumni Club started in New Jersey. He thinks there are quite a few straying sheep up there who would like to be gathered into the fold.

1938 W. O. "Bo" Bozeman spent four years in the Army, receiving his discharge as Major. At present he is Assistant Superintendent of the Russell Mfg. Co., Bleachery, in Alexander City.

From Milwaukee, we hear that Earl Marion "Little Sig" Sigler is an Electrical Engineer in the Transformer Sales Dept. of the Allis-Chalmers Mfg. Co.

Charles H. Crump was discharged from the Army as a Captain on Dec. 25, 1945. He is now in Fairfax with his wife, and two young sons, and employed as a Second Hand in the Fairfax Textile Mills.

Billy Hitchcock is one of the owners of the new Lima Cola Bottling Company in Lee County, near the Opelika-Auburn highway. The new company boasts of all new equipment, as well as a new building and water softening equipment. One truck is already operating in Opelika, Auburn, and Tuskegee.

1939 H. Lloyd Sutherland now has a general practice in veterinary medicine in Union, S. C. He has also been a member of the Jr. Chamber of Commerce, the South Carolina Veterinary Medical Association, and President of the Lion's Club.

1940 Captain John M. Kelso is studying a course in logistics at the Army Air Forces Institute of Technology at Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio, headquarters of the Air Material Command. During the war, John completed 50 missions with the 97th Bomb Group in both England and North Africa.

Edward L. Trudy is way up in Augusta, Maine, with the U.S.-D.A., Bureau of Animal Industry. He was discharged from the Army after 16 months of service as a sergeant.

John Rice has recently moved to Jackson, Tenn., and since his business takes him all over the state, he is anxious to get in touch with Auburnites who are now Tennesseans.

1941 W. Ross Snelling writes from Augusta that he recently had occasion to call on a veterinarian in town. When he entered, they both let out a "War Eagle" simultaneously. For the "Vet" was none other than Dr. J. M. Shuler, an Auburn man. Both are anxious to start an Alumni Club in Augusta.

Alma Holladay, home demonstration agent for Baldwin County for the past three years, has been transferred to a similar position in Sumter County.

We hear from Dr. Doyce G. Briscoe that he is practicing dentistry in Jasper.

James Hubert "Red" Keller, with his wife and 4-year-old Frankie Norene, is living in Laverne, where he is a Soil Conservationist.

John W. Johnson writes us from Atlanta, where he is associated with the Coca-Cola Company. He reminds us that he is one of the six Johnson brothers that have finished at Auburn, and that they will be sending a seventh and last one this fall. Says John, "The old man tried hard, but he said seven was the best he could do for Auburn."

1942 Dr. Wilford Bailey, member of the A.P.I. veterinary faculty, has been elected president of the Inter-Club Council of Auburn. He was also recently presented the Junior Chamber of Commerce "distinguished service key", signifying his selection as Auburn's young man of the year.

Daniel E. Kallman writes from Henderson, North Carolina—"in the heart of the tobacco country"—that he is carrying on a general veterinary practice. Dan is also the proud father of two boys, Steven Mark, age 27 months, and Stewart Leonard, age 4 months.

Albert F. "Ben" Hemingway is now in Birmingham with George M. Meriwether, Industrial Equipment. He served as a Captain in the Corps of Engineers during the war, and won a bronze star, two battle stars, and two Arrowheads.

Charles M. "Pig" Roberson reports that he is teaching vocational agriculture in Rogersville.

1943 Dorothy Floyd is enrolled at Columbia University, working on her Master's degree, and is living in Paterson, N. J.

Ike W. Pitman is a salesman for the Neptune Meter Co. in Atlanta. While stationed with the Army Air Forces, he was stationed for a time in Foggia, Italy.

We hear from William W. Putney's mother that he is now living in Glendale, Calif. and connected with an animal hospital in North Hollywood. He also has a 4-month old son, W. W. Putney, III.

Tom W. Pelham is teaching vocational agriculture to veterans in Shorterville. He spent almost 4 years in service, and was separated last March as a 1st Lt. in the Field Artillery.

A. G. "Fagan" Canzoneri has resigned as assistant football coach and member of the faculty of Hurt Military Academy in Montgomery. He expects to be connected with the Veterans' Administration in Bessemer.

1944 Romblous J. Martin, who served as a 2nd Lt. in the Infantry during the war, is now assistant county agent in Monroeville.

John Andrew "Smitty" Smith entered the Army in '42, and served 20 months in the E.T.O. He's still in the Army, and though he does mention that he's married, we don't know where he's stationed.

Woodrow B. Peeb is teaching vocational agriculture in Gordo after an extensive Army career. "Peeb" spent 11½ months in Japan in Nagasaki, Yokohama, and other posts.

1945 William Emmett "Jeff" Jefferson is now holding forth in a "hidden-away" office here in Auburn, representing the Alabama State Employment Service. And Jeff is already doing a fine job of helping veterans' wives find the job that are necessary to augment that $90 a month.

1946 Joy Long is now a service representative for the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co. in Atlanta.

Annie Lou O'Grady is the capable Director of Girls Physical Education in the high school in Cottonwood.

Evan Fort "Ebo" Slider writes from Stratford, Conn., that he is an Engineer at Chance Vought Aircraft, Division of United Aircraft Corp.

We hear that Sara A. Thorp is teaching at the elementary school in Ashland, and is also principal of the school.

Betty Easter reports that she is Assistant Home Demonstration Agent in St. Clair County.

Alice Marie Hardwick is teaching high school home economics in the Danville High School.

We hear from Elbertine Marie Fields that she is a stewardess for Delta Air Lines, based at Atlanta, but that since last December 30th she has been Mrs. William Chester of Montgomery.
